Car accident Kills woman

Melita Crossdale, 39, of Bay St. Louis was killed in an automobile accident on the twin span of the I-10 bridge over Lake Pontchartrain Tuesday night.

The woman's husband, Nelson, two children and two other passengers were in the car and received minor injuries. The two children, whose names were not available, have been hospitalized.

The accident apparently happened, according to state police, when the Crossdale car, a 1975 Ford Granada, blew a tire and careened sideways, where it was struck by the broadside of a swerving car approaching from the rear.

The body is at Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis, where arrangements are incomplete.

Murder suspect out on bond

A man arrested in Florida last week, accused of murdering a man found on the Waveland beach, has been released on $15,000 bond because of a legal technicality.

John Albert Nolan, 47, of Panama City, Fla., was arrested Friday in Panama City on a fugitive warrant from the state of Mississippi after a confidential informant said he had witnessed the murder of James A. Saho, 37, of Bloomington, Ohio.

The body of Saho was found on the Waveland beach April 30 of last year.

Saho's body was found with his hands tied behind his back and evidence of a blow behind the right ear. Hancock County Coroner Carl Banderet ruled the death due to drowning and said the body had been in the water about 24 hours.

Bay County, Fla. Court Judge William A. Cooper said that he was forced to release Nolan on bond because the warrant only stated that he was charged with murder, and the charge was strictly hearsay as to what degree of murder since the information was not on the arrest warrant.

Hancock County Chapter, American Heart Association is sponsoring a free blood pressure screening Saturday, Feb. 5 in front of the new Jetney-Jungle at Market Town Shopping Center, US-90 and Dunbar Avenue, Bay St. Louis. ## Waveland singer scores movie role

By BREARD SNELLINGS
Milton Travis, a Waveland songwriter and singer, has been signed for a role in Roger Harrison's new movie, "The Singing Cowboy."

Harrison, of Covington, will be remembered for "The Chosen," which was the last movie he produced.

Travis got his role in the new movie, which begins shooting in Old Tucson, Ariz., March 15, by watching an interview of Harrison on WWL-TV's PM Magazine.

"I called the TV station after the show and they put me in touch with Harrison," Travis explained.

"He let me audition, and after I played and sang some songs for him, he gave me a speaking part which involves some six different scenes."

Travis will be playing the role of Ray Davis, and singing the title song in the movie. The irony is that Travis' horse, "Golden Nugget," will have a bigger part than he will.

"My horse will be ridden by actor-singer Paul Williams, who plays the role of Scrubby Oaks," Travis explained.

Williams is one of the movie's stars, along with Rex Allen Jr.

Cameo appearances will be made by Roy Rogers, Dale Evans, Lash Larue and Cowboy Rex Allen.

Rex Allen Jr. plays the title role. Travis, 32, is originally from Mobile, Ala., but has lived in Waveland the last three years, where he has been a regular performer at Granny's.

His backup singing group, "Country Sounds," will be doing the backup singing to Travis' lead singing in a demo album which will be out sometime next month, entitled "The Singing Cowboy."

Travis, who works at Avondale Shipyard in the Mold Loft (UCM) Department, has also appeared as a singer at The Pub in Mobile and Longfellow House in Pascagoula.

The movie, which will be filmed by 20th Century Fox, is scheduled to take 6-8 weeks of shooting, primarily in Old Tucson and the Grand Canyon.

Murray trial set Apr. 11; other arraignments delayed

By BREARD SNELLINGS

A trial date of April 11 has been set for Don Murray on charges that he conspired with Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett to defraud the city.

Murray, a city inspector, went before Circuit Judge James Thomas Wednesday morning.

Bennett, who also appeared before Thomas Wednesday morning, had his arraignment date reset for April 4, after informing the court that he had not yet secured the services of an attorney.

Murray was represented by attorney Aaron Adams, and the original bond of $5,000 was maintained.

City Attorney Joseph Gex was listed on the court docket as the attorney for both Bennett and Murray, as well as former Hancock County School Board members Louie Ladner and Woodrow Ladner, who both were charged with defrauding the school district.

Bennett explained outside the courtroom that Gex could not represent him (and presumably the others) as city attorney.

He then said he planned to enter a plea of "not guilty" to charges that he and Murray secured the services of a carpenter to perform building repair work on the mayor's home, and that the bill for the work was represented as authorized expenditures for work on city streets.

Bennett's bond was originally set at $5,000 at the time of indictment by the Grand Jury.

The indictments against Louie and Woodrow Ladner stated that on July 13, each man obtained $500 from the Board of Education for the purpose of attending the Southern Region School Board Conference in Nashville, Tenn., when they were not authorized to attend the meeting, and ineligible to receive expense money.

Bond for both was set at $1,000.

Bennett, Murray and the two Ladners are all out on property bonds.

Hancock food businesses must obtain new permit

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

All food service establishments in Hancock County and throughout Mississippi are now required by state law to obtain a new State Health Department permit.

Louis Fernandez, county sanitarian, reported at a Tuesday night Waveland Board of Aldermen meeting he has issued four of the permits in Hancock and has about 226 more to issue in this area.

The local official said he plans to meet with the Bay St. Louis City Council and County Board of Supervisors to explain the new system.

Nancy K. Sullivan, state health department public relations director in Jackson, Wednesday said the health agency began issuing the permits Jan. 13 and must complete that process in about one year.

There is no fee for the permit which is valid for one year from its issuance date, she noted.

Department personnel in the past have issued permits to establishments only where city or county ordinances require sanitation inspections, but the new law (passed in the 1982 legislative session) calls for all the state's estimated 6,500 food service businesses to be inspected and receive a permit, she reported.

Permit approval is based on health department sanitation standards in force since 1976 for areas with ordinances, she noted.

Businessmen may decide whether or not to publicly display the newly designed paper permit certificate unless local laws require it be posted, Sullivan said.

Sullivan reported local health officials usually view all food service establishments twice a year, but up until now state law has not explicitly called for the department to perform these permit inspections.

The new permits will be issued during these visits as long as a business meets existing standards spelled out in an inspection list and if not, the establishment owner will be given a time period to comply, she revealed.

She said the old system promoted spot enforcement, but the state law will bring uniform inspections statewide.

Fernandez told the aldermen if a food service business does not remedy deficiencies after the allotted time, the

KORP names Johnson parade grand marshal

The Krewe of Real People will begin its third annual Mardi Gras Parade at noon Feb. 15.

Parading in 1980 for the first time with three floats, KORP this year expects to roll with 15 floats and 15 other units.

Each float entered into the 1983 revelry will depict recognizable scenes from each month of the year.

Historical and seasonal events such as Washington's Birthday, Valentine's Day, Christmas and other surprises will be depicted by the floats.

The grand marshal for the 1983 parade is Charles E. Johnson, a native of Bay St. Louis, member of the First Missionary Baptist Church, and an employee of Retired Senior Volunteer Program in Hancock County.

Johnson was chosen by the krewe as grand marshal because of his dedication and service to the city of Bay St. Louis generally and to the Third Ward specifically, a KORP spokesman reported.

"He is involved with citizens from throughout the city."

Johnson is a member of Veterans Civic Organization, Trinity Academy PTO, Bay High School Booster Club, Brotherhood of First Missionary Baptist, director of the Senior Citizens Choir, and a member of the governing body for KORP.

The krewe intends to recognize individuals who play a great part in shaping the city, who exhibit honesty, in-

In spite of auto accident:

Bay Little Theatre again named top Mississippi troupe

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

In spite of an automobile accident which totaled their car prior to performance, Bay St. Louis Little Theatre thespians won first place in statewide competition for the second consecutive time.

Mike Cuevas of the Bay theatre group, Tuesday reported the local organization will represent the state in regional competition in March.

She said the Bay group won in competition against seven theatre organizations at the Mississippi Theatre Association County Theatre Festival at Mississippi State University in Starkville during the weekend.

Statewide competition is offered every two years and Bay St. Louis won in the last event in 1981, Cuevas noted.

Regarding the accident, Cuevas said she was driving her car Thursday to Starkville with three other theatre members and an infant.

While driving north on Hwy. 49 in the Orange Grove Community they collided with a car which pulled out in front of them near Norwood Village Shopping Center, Cuevas reported.

Cuevas, Lauri Byrd, Donna Tingston, and Lady Carver and her six-week-old boy all apparently escaped serious injury. Cuevas telephoned home for another car, and they continued on to the competition.

The Bay group competed against little theatre organizations representing Gulfport, Vicksburg, Panola, Natchez, Starkville and Laurel, Cuevas reported. She said the Bay thespians presented a serious drama titled "Echoes" written N. Richard Nash which involves two people in an insane asylum.

"We were judged on acting and our overall performance," Cuevas stated.

Byrd is director of the cast which includes Cuevas, Rusty Blackwell and Jim Holmes. Richard Taylor is technical director.

Runnerup in the state event is the Vicksburg Community Theatre, she reported.

The Bay Little Theatre will represent

The unique vehicle represents a compromise of his desire to travel in a covered wagon and his wife's (Vi) need for modern conveniences. establishment will be closed.

Sullivan reported if deficiencies are later found after a permit is issued, the license can be revoked until those violations are corrected.

However, the state law imposes stricter requirements on new food service establishments.

Sullivan revealed a health department representative must review and approve plans for a new food service business prior to construction.

Fernandez said a new permit must also be obtained if a food service establishment changes ownership.

Sullivan said the state law does not regulate roadside vendors unless they are selling prepared food.

Seaford, vegetable and fruit stands are not affected by the 1982 legislation, but are regulated by other state and local laws, Sullivan reported.

The new law also does not apply to church functions, county fairs, private schools or any non-established business, she said.

Regulated entities include hospitals, nursing homes, school lunch rooms, state institutions, jails, and home bases for caterers and vendors, Sullivan listed.

Fernandez reported he plans to stop people selling prepared food along roadsides without permits.

But he said there is no possible way for the Hancock County Jail in Bay St. Louis to comply with food service standards.

He also reported total compliance with all state regulations by all business owners is not possible because local political leaders would be bombarded with complaints.

Business owners seeking permits should telephone the County Health Department and ask to speak to the county sanitarian who will take care of all paperwork involved and review plans for new establishments, Sullivan explained.

The new law represents a cooperative effort between the state health department, Mississippi Restaurant Association and State Legislature to improve and strengthen the food service industry, Sullivan reported.

Fernandez also revealed an increasing number of people are planning or developing camping and recreational vehicle parks to serve vacationers attending the scheduled 1984 World's Fair in New Orleans.

He warned these areas are governed by the same sanitation standards imposed on mobile home parks.

Fernandez reported a developer (he would not name) is attempting to build a large RV and camping area on Lakeshore Road for the fair.

County to convert school buses to propane, save 20 cents/gallon

By BREARD SNELLINGS
Echo Staff Writer

The Hancock County School District will convert to propane-driven buses in the near future.

The board Monday night voted to install propane systems in all 31 county school buses, replacing the present gasoline systems.

The board also passed a resolution to purchase at least five new buses with $115,000, acquired through recent timber sales that could be put into a special transportation fund, in addition to $22,875 from the district in general fund.

Although bids must be sought for the conversion of the buses into propane, two representatives of Blossman, Inc. who attended the meeting explained that propane would save the county at least 20 cents a gallon on fuel costs, and that the tanks could all be installed "between now and the spring break."

Purchase of new buses would raise the district total to 36 vehicles.

The resolution was offered by board member George Ladner.

Also Monday, Head Bookkeeper Brenda Ladner presented the 1982-83 amended school district budget.

The budget totalled $3,514,201, with $882,404 from local sources, $2,666,441 from state sources, $300,000 held over from the last school year, and $255,048 from other sources.

The breakdown includes $302,857 for office budget, $562,342 for Gulfview School, $591,182 for Hancock Elementary, $1,070,677 for Hancock North High School, $302,857 for the superintendent's office, $359,189 for Charles B. Murphy School and $284,834 for the transportation fund.

In another matter involving the buses, the board reviewed the policy of bus drivers during rainy weather, and agreed, following a citizen complaint, that bus drivers are required by policy to drop students off in front of their houses during rainy, stormy weather.

Also, the board approved a recommendation to employ Vernice Garvin as substitute bus driver for Charles B. Murphy Elementary for the remainder of the school year, and approved paying David Brown $120 per month for gassing up buses for the district for the remainder of the school year.

Three substitute bus drivers were approved by the board Monday night. They are Janice Bourgeois, Michael Ladner, and Vernice Garvin.

Eddie Murtagh, Hancock tax assessor, told the board a recent tax audit showed that United Gas Pipe Line should have been charged a new industry rate and not a homestead exemption rate.

Correction of the oversight will mean additional tax dollars for the school district, Murtagh said.

Murtagh said he billed the company, and they have paid $14,000 in back taxes which will be settled in favor of the county school system, and that funds settled to the county previously would be returned to the county tax assessor, and that an anticipated total settlement of $46,000 would go to the county schools.

He apologized for an earlier error in his office which resulted in an inflated school district budget.

Hancock North Central Schools figured prominently in Monday night's meeting.

School architect Fred Wagner said Monti-Carver Plumbing should be paid for exploratory work on estimates of damage done, "apparently by vandalism" to the bathrooms at Hancock North Central Elementary. Monti-Carver should go ahead and do the repair work if it doesn't exceed the amount of money necessary to advertise for bids, Superintendent Terrell Randolph said.

Pat Patterson, representing the Hancock North Central 50-Yard Line Bowler Club, was at the meeting with a group of five club representatives to ask the board to furnish $7,500 to build a new fieldhouse for the football team.

"The present old fieldhouse was built to accommodate 40 players, and the team now has 61 players," said Patterson. "The facilities are much too small and create a sanitation problem as well."

Patterson said the club had raised $5,000 for the project.

Barge terminal comment period ends Friday

The Bureau of Marine Resources will accept public comments until close of business Friday regarding a proposed waste drilling fluids terminal on the East Pearl River.

Jerry Mitchell, BMR Coastal Programs Division chief in Long Beach, Tuesday confirmed the comment period was extended to Friday following a recent public hearing at the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis.

He said Mississippi Pumping Services, Inc. of Bay St. Louis is requesting permission to dredge a canal off the Pearl near the former Napoleon Community in the National Space Technology Acoustic Buffer Zone and build a barge terminal to transfer waste drilling fluids to tank trucks for disposal in Hancock treatment pits.

The corporation is also seeking a change in the Coastal Wetlands Use Plan to change the Napoleon property designation from general to industrial use.

Written comments may be submitted to the Bureau of Marine Resources at P. O. Drawer 959, Long Beach, Miss. 39560.

Bay, Waveland sewerage rates to increase $2

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Bay St. Louis and Waveland monthly basic sewerage rates will soon increase $2-per-customer to support the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District.

The Waveland Board of Aldermen Tuesday night approved the rate increase as requested by Mayor John Longo who also serves as president and the city's representative on the three-man wastewater district board of directors.

He said funds from the fee will be utilized for management and operation of the district.

The increase will be included in Waveland sewerage bills which will be mailed to customers at the end of this month, the mayor revealed.

Lucien Gex, Waveland, and wastewater district attorney, said the Bay St. Louis City Council has not yet authorized the increase, but expects the officials to soon take that action which is called for in an agreement the city recently signed to join the district.

The mayor reported the $2 fee from both cities will generate some $9,250 monthly for the district with Waveland providing $4,250 of the total, the mayor reported.

Hancock County is also a member of the district, but presently has no sewage treatment facilities.

Longo said the Waveland district fees are much lower than additional $35-$40 monthly charges proposed by the now defunct Gulf Coast Regional Wastewater Management District.

Waveland officials' last month increased basic water, gas and sewerage rates. The $2 sewerage rate hike was not included in that increase.

A City Utility Department spokesman confirmed bills mailed to customers at the end of January included rate increases of two percent for sewerage, five percent for water and 10 percent for natural gas usage.

The flat monthly rate of $8.95 for each utility was increased one dollar, the spokesman noted.

Although water rates were increased, the minimum water volume for the flat rate was raised from 8,000 gallons monthly to 10,000, the spokesman said.

'82 shrimp catch near record of '77

The National Marine Fisheries Service reports some 6.3 million pounds of headless shrimp landed in Mississippi last year, an increase of about 1.5 million pounds over 1981, approaches the record 6.6 million pounds landed in the state in 1977.

Hermes Hague, a fishery reporting specialist with the National Marine Fisheries Service in Pascagoula, said final figures for the year have yet to be compiled but should not vary much from the preliminary figures.

All Mississippi waters north of the intercoastal waterway are now closed to shrimping the remaining state water will stay open until the end of April.

The 1982 statistics bear out predictions made last spring by state marine biologists that fishermen would have an excellent shrimp season. Hague cautioned, however, that the numbers are deceptive if not interpreted correctly.

"Generally, total landings were increased due to the greater number of vessels fishing and because of the greater fishing effort," Hague said. "Landings per boat did not increase much."

Hague said the number of out-of-state boats fishing in Mississippi waters jumped considerably in 1982.

Prices paid to fishermen last year for their near-record catch also jumped. The December price paid for headless shrimp during 1982 was $4.66, which is a 57 percent increase over the $2.96 price paid during the same month in 1981.

John Kelly, of the Sea Grant Advisory Service, said prices during the first part of 1982 were consistent with those of a year earlier, but he said prices began climbing during the final four months of the season.

Tom VanDevender of the state bureau of marine Resources said industry surveys have indicated that high diesel fuel costs and interest rates were the primary causes for the sharp escalation in shrimp prices.

He said, "very, very good" weather conditions during the spring of 1982 helped produce the excellent shrimp crop.

"VanDevender said salinity levels remained high during the spring because of low rainfall.

The conditions allowed young shrimp to remain in Mississippi's coastal waters until they were ready to move back into the Sound.

During some seasons, heavy spring rains decrease salinity levels and force undersized shrimp out of marshes before they are fully grown.

VanDevender said that this winter's heavy rains and snows probably will mean that next spring's conditions will not be ideal for shrimp growth.

But he added that any prediction now about the 1983 season would be premature.

"The adult female shrimp are way off shore in deep Gulf waters and are spawning," VanDevender said.

"The '83 season is being made, or spawned, right now."

Citizen supports Grand Jury request for south-end high school

Citizen supports
January 31, 1983
Letter to Editor
Sea Coast Echo

I was very glad to see the Grand Jury suggest a high school in the southern part of Hancock County. Better late than never, I say.

Now! All we have to hope for is that an official follow-up is carried out. Mr. Randolph and the school board members should educate the citizenry as to the need for such a school.

This should include an idea of how much school taxes will increase for land owners.

They don't realize that one trip to North Central will cost them more for gas than the yearly tax increase would be.

Also, a student in a classroom of 35 students will get a better education than a student in a classroom of 75 students. That is, as long as the teachers are equally qualified.

I, and many of my fellow citizens here in the Lakeshore area, appeal to Mr. Randolph in getting us a high school. He knows as well as we do that this was a major factor in his getting our large support on Election Day.

Dear Friend,

The American Red Cross Mobile Unit will be at the American Legion Home, Post 139, Bay St. Louis, on Wednesday, Feb. 9, from 2 to 8 p.m. Our quota for this blood drawing is 100 units.

As usual, our present blood supply is low, although last time we met our quota for the first time in years.

We know you are aware of the importance to the life and health of our community to have blood available at all times, and that to do this we need your help.

Will you please assist by requesting your members and employees, members of their families and friends who are physically able and 17 years old or older to come in Wednesday afternoon and donate a unit of blood?

Please read this at your next meeting, post on your bulletin board, or publish it in any bulletins before the blood drawing. Make a personal appearance for this particular drawing.

Your assistance in any way at your command to make this drawing a success and productive will not only be appreciated, but is essential to those who will need this blood.

Storm refugees express appreciation for aid from National Guard, Mayor Larry Bennett

Jan. 26, 1983
Letter to the Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank the National Guard, and Mayor Larry Bennett for help given to my family.

Thursday, Jan. 20, 1983 was a very terrifying day for a lot of people on our Coast due to the storm and high tides—it was so unreal, and unexpected, and the tide water seemed to rise so fast.

My husband and I were cut off from leaving our home because during the night the tide water made our road too deep to travel on.

We had to sit in our home watching the water backing into our yard getting higher and higher.

We, along with our next door neighbors put in a call to Civil Defense for aid.

So after nerve racking waiting, the big National Guard truck came down our road.

Wading out in the waist deep water came three National Guard young men that were so nice, they carried our suitcases.

I had two poodles and a little pit bull dog pup, and they helped my husband and I carry them to the truck.

We knew those men were cold but they thought of us offering us blankets.

I never found out their names, but I hope they read this, and know we thank them more than they will ever know.

After picking up some more neighbors in our area, they drove us to the Civil Defense headquarters for coffee.

As we climbed out of the truck Mayor Larry Bennett came up and told us he would drive us to a motel.

So Mayor Bennett took his time to drive us to our motel room. Then Mayor Bennett offered to get us food. We would like to thank Mayor Bennett for his kindness and everyone involved in our aid.

Thank you
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Black
Bay St. Louis

Neglect of Hancock beaches reflects lack of civic pride

Jan. 31, 1983

To the Editor,

With the 1984 World's Fair just around the corner, I understand that some of the coastal cities of Mississippi have started a large advertising campaign to promote tourism to the beautiful Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Hanging its head in the shadows is the Hancock County coastline with its near extinct, filthy beach and eroding beach road.

Buccaneer Park, a terrific asset to Mississippi and Hancock County, expanding its facilities to accommodate the eager tourism flow, has the sad luck to be located in a place where care and pride have all but disappeared with the beach.

We were once given the opportunity to enjoy a beautiful beach but due to lack of care this opportunity is now a disgusting eyesore.

Why don't we start to take some pride and get our beach back the way it was? Trying to repair and maintain the beach road without a beach to help protect it is a farce.

A new beach and a decent beach road will probably raise our taxes, but did you expect to get it for free?

If we don't do something soon we will eventually lose the beach road and what pride we have left in our county. I can see it now: "Welcome to the beautiful Mississippi Gulf Coast, but do to lack of interest, Hancock County is closed."

Does anyone hear me?

Three-headed dragon's fiery breath heats up Pearlington resident

January 31, 1983
To the Editor
The Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

Yes, once again the three-headed dragon of industrialization peers its evil eyes over the banks of the East Pearl River.

Pretty pictures have been painted...job opportunities, taxes realized for the county, increased land values.

But the residents and landowners along the East Pearl and in the community of Pearlington scoff as they have heard this "song and dance" before.

The dragon to be slain is a proposed change in the Coastal Wetlands Use Plan which would make the East Pearl River an Industrial Use District.

This proposal has been brought forth by Mississippi Pumping Services, Incorporated which has managed to obtain river-front property in the NSTL Buffer Zone in the locality known to area residents as Napoleon.

Their intended use for the property is a transfer station where chemically treated drilling mud would be unloaded from barges into trucks and transported to approved dumping sights in Hancock County.

It does seem simple enough in its presentation. However, a little research has provided information which has brought an entire town to its feet united against MPSP's proposal.

To be sure, the advantages of the proposal as presented by MPSP are hardly worthwhile. Job opportunities referred to in the proposal consist of employment for one to 15 men with no assurance that local residents would occupy the available positions.

Pearlington is not likely to benefit from ad valorem taxes collected from the proposed project as it has benefited very little from the NSTL and Port Bienville facilities.

And, if land values increase, new assessments will only mean higher taxes for the Pearlington homeowners.

The disadvantages and potential hazards of the MPSP project are tremendous.

There exists a possible disruption in a river ecosystem which is currently struggling to recuperate from horrendous dredging and bank wash from the NSTL barges.

Additional river traffic would greatly interfere with, if not eliminate, the swimming, skiing, fishing, and hunting presently enjoyed by thousands from both Louisiana and Mississippi.

The additional river traffic could also increase the possibility of collision involving barges transporting hydrogen and oxygen, a collision which could be disastrous depending upon its location.

Spills of the chemically treated drilling mud or flooding of the holding tanks could speedily contaminate water tables which are presently supplying Pearlington's consumable water.

The issuance of an Industrial Use permit to MPSP could strike a fuse for more industry, industry with money to purchase International Paper Company land that the people of Pearlington cannot afford to purchase; industry with the political power to manipulate the river and its people into whatever fashion it deems necessary for its evil end.

The residents of Pearlington live there because of its resort qualities. Pearlington is a place where a man knows his neighbors and can escape the race and rigors of city life.

The people who live in Pearlington are basically happy, peaceful people who cherish the history of their ancestors and have been made aware of the quality of country living.

They have, to date, attempted to work in harmony with the surrounding environment and to preserve the wildlife and natural resources only to learn that they may lose it all to the infiltration, pollution, and destruction that industry could bring.

The residents of Pearlington are not against change if that change is truly beneficial.

However, in the communications thus far initiated with those responsible for the proposed project, facts have been altered, contradicting statements made, actions performed which under normal circumstances would have been classified as illegal, and no assurances made that the existing pits on the Napoleon site will not be used for dumping or storage of the chemically treated mud or even more hazardous materials.

If trust, honesty, and open communication cannot be developed at the outset, then there is no doubt that the residents will be further deluded and deceived.

Pearlington residents knowledgeable of the project feel that if NPSI must use the East Pearl River in transportation of the mud, then Port Bienville is a soundly more logical location for transfer.

The Port's facilities are readily available and suitably equipped to handle the needs of the company.

The Port is already a monitored industrialized area and is easily accessible by road, rail, and river.

Its use would not involve further dredging of the scenic Pearl.

Expansion of industry could be easily accommodated by the unpopulated area surrounding the Port.

With all these points in mind it seems totally illogical and foolish to want to pay the expense, not solely monetary, of industrializing the East Pearl River north of Highway 90.

Many have united in opposition and their reasoning is sound.

We just hope that it is not too late to save the East Pearl River from the blight of industrialization.

Respectfully
Denise Wilkinson
Pearlington

Senator Thad Cochran

SPECIAL REPORT:

IMPORTANCE OF SMALL BUSINESS

Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) said in Ocean Springs last week that "small business will play a significant role in leading our nation to economic recovery."

Senator Cochran noted that small businesses historically have "created the majority of new jobs, and if encouraged to flourish, they will be an important leader in restoring economic growth."

His comments came at the annual meeting of the Ocean Springs Chamber of Commerce.

The Senator pointed out that small business enterprises such as the fishing industry and tourism-related commerce have been prominent in the growth and development of the Gulf Coast.

He said that reducing the tax burden and simplifying the regulatory process were ways that government could help small business prosper.

The Senator said he had "serious reservations" about a proposed freeze of military pay, saying he feared the long-range consequences might outweigh possible short-term budget savings.

"There may be sounder ways to reduce spending and budget deficits than by penalizing our well-trained military personnel," he said.

Senator Cochran pointed to the importance of defense industry and military bases to the area's economy, and said he was pleased to have secured membership on the Defense Subcommittee of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee this session of Congress.

"We can, and must, have a strong national defense, with sufficient manpower and equipment to protect our freedom," he stated, "but we must also have a defense structure that is lean and tough, and as free as possible from waste and fat."

Quotables by CUEVAS

We have been asked by one of our subscribers to please ask motorists not to block the Service Lanes at intersections while waiting for traffic signals on US-90.

The intersection of Dunbar and US-90 is one of the areas she is speaking about having the problems.

This we have noted happening on several occasions, and many motorists have to use the Service Lanes, especially those living on Sunset Boulevard.

It would probably be good if the State Highway Department could mark these areas so motorists will not block these areas.

We understand there were a record number of persons filing in January for homestead exemptions according to Edward Murtagh, assessor-tax collector.

Homestead exemption forms were mailed prior to January 1 to homeowners, and all they have to do is sign and return to the assessor's office by return mail.

We realize some may have not reached some homeowners because of address changes, and we like to urge everyone to make sure they have filed, if they qualify.

If you did not get your forms in the mail, you may want to check with assessor's office.

The Homestead Exemption must be filed by April 1 to qualify.

This year, thanks to a bill introduced in the legislature by Hancock County Representative J.P. Compretta, persons living in the same building as their businesses will be able to claim a partial exemption.

This is something many people could have taken advantage of for many years in our area.

So if you reside in your business place, you may be able to get a reduction in your taxes by filing for homestead exemption.

FmHA state director urges participation in new crop program

Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) State Director James L. Perry is directing FmHA district directors and county supervisors throughout the state to encourage Mississippi farmers to seriously consider participating in the new Payment-in-Kind (PIK) or "crop swap" program.

Perry, who recently returned from a Department of Agriculture briefing in Washington, said he is thoroughly convinced that the PIK program can go a long way toward solving surplus grain problems and easing the cost-price squeeze, while at the same time, holding down federal spending.

The meeting in Washington, Perry said, was called by Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block. It included comments by the secretary and detailed briefings by Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Administrator Everett Rank and FmHA Administrator Charles W. Shuman.

ASCS executive directors, including Thomas M. Barron, and ASCS committee members from around the country also attended the meeting.

"There is no doubt in my mind," Perry said, "that this innovative PIK program can be of great benefit to Mississippi's farmers. It can help reduce the need for operating capital, reduce interest costs, and hold production to a more realistic level this year and, if necessary, next year. It can help relieve cash flow problems for many farmers and in the long run improve the general agricultural economy."

"I sincerely hope that every farmer will study the details of the new program with an open mind and determine its benefits before the end of the sign-up period, March 11," Perry said.

PIK SIGNUP
Signup under the Payment-In-Kind (PIK) Program is now underway.

Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) Office, said that the signup started on Jan. 24, and will continue through March 11.

Gennin said that county office personnel attended a two-day training session at Jackson on Jan. 18 and 19. Members of the County ASCS Committee attended a meeting on Jan. 24 in Jackson, at which time they were briefed on the PIK Program.

The county director stated that all necessary operating procedures and forms have been received in connection with the program.

Gennin said that response to this program has been most favorable during the first few days of signup. He advises all farmers who are eligible for the program to call or go by their county ASCS office as soon as possible.

Those who wait until the latter part of the signup run the risk of encountering long lines and extra waiting time.

ORGANIZE TAXES
Income taxes are a subject that interests most in one way or another. It's a topic that will be gaining in interest as tax filing time nears.

Folks who do a good job of keeping tax records will be in good shape for filing tax returns. If you didn't keep a good set of tax records last year, start now putting together all your receipts on paper and attach the receipts to the document.

The typical wage earner is supposed to receive a W-2 form from his employer no later than the last day of January. Other business people have Schedule C of Form 1040 to use as a guide in putting together their deductible expenses that will be used in determining income.

Don't overlook any deductible expense in figuring your income. Overlooking deductible items can cost a surprising amount of added taxes, depending on your income tax bracket.

If you need more information or materials in filing your 1982 income tax return, contact the Internal Revenue Service.

PLAN PRUNING
Now is the time to start planning your pruning for a lovely lawn this spring.

There are four basic reasons for pruning landscape plants: size, shape, sores and location. If none of these reasons apply to your landscape, you probably should not prune.

Size is the most common reason for pruning. Not all plants grow at the same rate, and you have to prune the plants to maintain the desired balance.

How often a plant will need pruning depends on the size of the space in which it is growing, and the type of plant. Some plants may need pruning twice a year while others will only need pruning every other year. Some plants can withstand severe pruning and others can tolerate only a light shearing of the foliage.

Proper pruning can improve the shape of a plant. It is best to shape and train plants while they are young and actively growing. Older plants can be shaped, but with greater difficulty.

The best time of the year to prune for shape is February to April. It's a good idea to watch the plants during the spring and summer so unsightly sucker sprouts can be pruned while they are still young and tender.

WHETHER TO HAVE SCHOOL—A press conference was called Wednesday by Hancock County Civil Defense Director Robert (Bobby) Boudin to talk about how decisions are made by the school superintendents on whether to have school or not in unusual weather. Meeting the press included from left, Terrell Randolph, Hancock County Superintendent of Education, Boudin, and J.D. McCullough, superintendent of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School System. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

In discussing school closings

School superintendents consider safety first

By ELLIS CUEVAS

School Superintendents J.D. McCullough and Terrell Randolph and Hancock County Civil Defense Director Robert Boudin called a press conference Wednesday to discuss reasons for not closing schools on days like this past Tuesday.

The three indicated the main reason for the conference was to give parents a better understanding as to how a decision is reached as to whether school is to be called off or not during unusual weather.

Boudin said, "I do not make the decision as to whether the county or city schools will be open or closed during unusual weather. That decision is up to the respective superintendents."

All emphasized the most important concern is "the safety of the children."

Both Randolph and McCullough said on days like Tuesday, they contact Boudin about three times before they decided schools would be open.

Randolph stated, "The correct information does not always get out. Tuesday two bus routes were turned back because someone stopped them and said there was no school, and I never issued such a statement."

Randolph said he has to make a decision at least 6 a.m. because some of the buses start at 6:30 a.m. and McCullough said some of his begin at 7:30 a.m.

Randolph allowed, "One of the problems in the past history of the county schools was the fact that many of the roads were not surfaced and when it rained there was the danger of buses slipping into ditches."

"Now this condition has improved as most roads the buses use are surfaced, so I try not to close school for rains. There are some parents who think school should close everytime it rains, but this is not possible," Randolph added.

Whenever school is closed for some reason, unless approval is given by the state, the day has to be made up as schools have to be open 175 days a school year.

Boudin indicated he has several radios which keep him abreast of the weather. He can also get further information by calling the weather bureau in Mobile.

One of the problems faced by the superintendents is the number of persons who have to be informed if school is closed for some reason.

Boudin said, "I feel it is better for children to be in school even when there are tornado watches. There are hundreds of students who live in mobile homes, and you know the damages caused by winds to mobile homes."

"Just like three weeks ago when we had the high water. The students, if they would have been home, would have been out wading around and possibly may have drowned," Boudin added.

The civil defense director continued, "On Tuesday I spoke to a bus driver who said she only had 27 students that morning. Normally she has 50, so I asked her how many of the students she had that morning had no parents at home and she said 28 of them."

"Now these children would have been wandering around with no supervision if they did not have school," Boudin allowed.

In addition to the top state honor, Blackwell received one of nine special accolade awards for acting excellence. Cuevas was elected vice-president of the state association, and Holmes was elected the state group's representative to the Southeastern Theatre Conference.

"The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre has become well known. We represented the state in regional competition two years ago in Orlando, Fla. and in 1982 we were the only performing theatre at the southeastern theatre convention in Louisville, Ky.," Cuevas noted.

"We feel we have a good shot at national competition this year," she added.

Cuevas also revealed the state organization will conduct its Jan. 23-24, 1984 convention on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Sierra Club opens 1983 organically

Sierra Club members of the Gulf Coast Group nibbled organically grown vegetables freshly picked from the winter gardens of members Doris Knausz of Biloxi and Arthur Salaun of Gulfport at a January public meeting in the Hancock Bank's conference room in Pass Christian.

Knausz described her methods of fertilizing, mulching, planting and protection and Salaun told how to grow a vegetable garden at little or no cost.

One tip offered: tie tomatoe vines to upright metal rods with old nylon hose for a yield of 75 tomatoes per vine.

are serving during the extended session scheduled to end Friday.

The extended session was ordered and arranged by the judge in an effort to clear as many cases as possible from the docket.

Judge Griffin said: "The docket is overflowing with 98 cases. The time element for each case is approximately two and a half days, so to try them all would take about a year."

In explaining exemptions from jury duty the judge said ministers, priests, doctors, lawyers are exempt.

Also exempt are "those with unusual economic hardships, such as a person operating a one-person business which is the sole support of a family, or a parent with small children who would be left unattended, or those for reason of advancing age, loss of hearing or physical discomfort would be excused."

The judge added his regrets that school teachers could not be exempt since he was cognizant of their difficulty in getting substitute teachers on short notice.

Obtaining a panel to serve as jurors is fair and without discrimination on the part of officials, the judge said.

"We are making a lot of progress," Judge Griffin said when asked if he felt cases were being tried or settled with expediency.

What are you going to do with that leftover cabbage after you've finished making the coleslaw to go along with the other "fixins" for parade watching?

Whatever you do, don't leave it to languish in the refrigerator till you have to toss it out. Of course, there's always vegetable soup and stuffed cabbage leaves and such, but cabbage is quite versatile and delicious in other ways.

Often called man's best friend in the vegetable world, the name of cabbage itself is an Anglicized version of the French colloquial word "caboche" - which means "head."

The origin of cabbage is obscure and ancient. At least 4,000 years ago men were eating the leafy wild cabbage found on the coasts of Europe and North Africa, and several thousand years ago in China... and that great statesman of ancient Rome, Marcus Cato (could he have been predicting the great American craze for coleslaw?) said: "It surpasses all other vegetables, eaten cooked or raw; if raw, dip it into vinegar. It promotes digestion marvelously."

Those who claim that cabbage and digestion are incompatible should try cooking it Carol Surig's way... barely "al dente" - "to the teeth" as one cooks pasta... just to the point at which it still has some slight, faintly crunchy resistance to the bite. Here's CAROL SURIG'S CABBAGE.

Carol, like I do, cooks in handfulls and dashes and smidgens and seldom follows

Miramar honors volunteers

Miramar Lodge Nursing Home recently honored its volunteers for 1982.

The welcoming was presented by Mrs. Jerry Brown, activity director. Billy Reed, administrator, cited the value of volunteers in nursing homes.

Trophies were presented to volunteers to have served for ten years or longer, plaques for those who have served five years or longer, and certificates for those serving less than five years.

Entertainment was provided by Mrs. Yvonne Hall and Mrs. Virgil Giani. Refreshments were served by the activity and dietary departments.

a recipe, preferring to smell and sense and taste as she goes along... and her cooking is always good!

For this cabbage dish, she quarters, then slices the cabbage in medium pieces, places them without any water at all in a heavy pot, turns the fire lower than low, as low as she possibly can, seasons with a bit of salt and pepper and cooks for barely a few minutes, seasoning additionally with a slice of ham.

The cabbage stays a lovely green, not the brownish color of cabbage cooked a long time - with the accompanying odor - with salt pork or ham or bacon. Also delicious is this version of:

MARGIE WITHERSPOON'S CABBAGE AND CREAM
4 cups shredded cabbage
1 cup light cream
1 Tbsp. butter

Pepper
Dash of ground nutmeg
Cook the cabbage without water, or no more than about a fourth to half inch at the bottom of the pot, for no more than six or seven minutes, till barely tender. Drain as needed, add the cream and butter and heat very, very slowly, stirring ever-so-gently with a fork. Add nutmeg and pepper.

SSC powerlifting meet to feature women's division

The Mississippi Invitational Powerlifting Championships will be held Saturday on the campus of St. Stanislaus in the Brother Peter Gym.

Competition should get underway about 9:15 a.m. and should be concluded by 5:30 p.m.

Lifters from Alabama, Florida, Louisiana and Mississippi will participate, approximately fifty lifters in all.

Unlike meets in the past, this year's competition will see women lifters in action.

They hail from Enterprise, Ala., New Orleans, La., and Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian.

This year's state championships will be sanctioned by the American Drug Free Powerlifting Association.

The A.D.F.P.A. was established in November of 1981 with the objective of monitoring the use of strength inducing drugs.

It provides an alternative for drug-free lifters to compete against other "clean" lifters, using only their natural, God-given strength.

Unfortunately, in too many sports today, competitors are becoming "athletic junkies."

Sports arenas are becoming "shooting galleries" and athletes from various sports are joining the "pharmaceutical parade."

The A.D.F.P.A. requires that testing be done to ascertain whether or not an athlete has used any steroid or other strength-inducing drugs to enhance his or her athletic performance.

Because the A.D.F.P.A. is dedicated to preserving the inherent pureness and simplicity of the sport of powerlifting, the St. Stanislaus Weigh Lifting Club elected to seek a sanction through this worthy association.

Hopefully, many area spectators will come to view this event and to cheer on the efforts of these athletes.

National teen-age record holder and elite lifter Davy Davis from Pascagoula, Ms. will surely please the sports fans with his efforts to move the iron.

Davy is currently a student at USM in Hattiesburg.

Rusty Adams, a local ninth grader from St. Stanislaus, will make his debut on the platform. Rusty shows great promise.

Amy Hille of Bay St. Louis will be competing in the women's division. Amy is completing her senior year at the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg.

Bay Area Soccer Club slates Wednesday meet

On Wednesday, Feb. 9 at 7:30 p.m. a general meeting of the Bay Area Soccer Club will be held at the Lutheran Church of the Pines, Hwy. 90, Waveland opposite Choctaw Palza.

The agenda will include the election of a new board member, a discussion of leveling procedures to be implemented for 1983/1984, a review of division standings, a discussion of sponsoring a Star soccer clinic, and such other matters as may be raised by the membership.

All those involved in soccer at all levels are invited to attend, and membership dues may be paid prior to the meeting, as only members have voting rights.

Please come and lend your support, because only through a working membership will BASC grow to improve the soccer program for our youth. BASC reports the results of Jan. 22 play as follows:

Specialty, allowing only their second goal of the season, and shut out hapless Hancock Bank on Sunday to remain on top of the Division.

In the Under 10 Division Stark's Restaurant and Hancock General Hospital played to a thrilling 2-2 tie, while McDonald's Restaurant shut out American Legion and Division leading Loiacano's won on a forfeit over McDonald Realty. On Sunday Little Italy maintained the pace with Loiacano's by defeating McDonald Realty 5-1.

In the Under 12 Division no games were actually played as Farm Bureau, Kiln had to forfeit to the Golden Eagles.

At the Seminary the Giants downed a Slidell recreational team 4-1 behind two goals apiece by Shannon O'Brien and Kristy Kidd and a tight defense. The Homes of the South defeated their SMSC opponent 4-3 with the assist of three goals by Shane Foreman. The most exciting game of the day involved the Scrappers and Gulf Coast Waste; with Gulf Coast Waste emerging victorious 2-1 on a free-kick by Rob Betcher with less than two minutes remaining in the game.

The Winter season for the Bay Area Soccer Club started this past Saturday, Jan. 29 with a full slate of games.

In the Under 8 Division the Scrappy Doos downed Hancock Bank 2-0, while the Bears and Coca Cola were playing to a 1-1 tie, and Specialty Metal and the Firebirds were playing to a 0-0 tie.

In the Under 10 Division Little Italy shut out an improved Stark's Restaurant 5-0.

McDonald Realty narrowly edged American Legion 4-3 and McDonald Restaurant shut out Hancock General Hospital 4-0 in the other Under 10 games.

In the Under 12 Division Dr. Murphree DDS and the Strikers played to a 2-2 tie.

For the second week in a row Farm Bureau Kiln forfeited their game, this time to the Golden Eagles. The Club hopes that one of the parents will volunteer to help this team so that it doesn't fold.

The Panthers hosted an Ocean Springs girls' team, and despite a valiant effort came up short 3-0.

In the Under 14 Division Gulf Coast Waste shut out the Scrappers 4-0 to maintain an unblemished record.

Meanwhile Bay-Waveland Tire journeyed to Picayune where they were defeated 6-2. The Giants hosted an U-14, Ocean Springs, team, downing the visitors 5-3 with Andrea Ambrose getting the winning goal on a breakaway. Homes of the South played at Gulfport and came away with a disappointing 1-1 tie.

Mary Carter paints (Under 12) played a tournament in Slidell this past weekend and did quite well. In their three games they tied a Slidell team 1-1, defeated a Folsom, La. team 5-0, and lost to a powerhouse Houston team 5-0. Congratulations are in order for representing our soccer program so ably.

The games for this coming Saturday are as follows:

be better represented.

Very truly yours,

Lady Wildcats lose in Perk

PRC's Lady Wildcats continued their roller coaster ride in Perkinston Thursday night by losing to the Gulf Coast Lady Bulldogs 73-63.

Tuesday night the Lady Cats easily defeated the Jones Lady Bobcats at Ellisville.

Ten-games on tap for '83 PRC gridders

Pearl River College has released its 10 game fall football schedule.

According to J.C. Arban, the Wildcats head coach, the Pearl River season will begin at home Saturday, Sept. 3 against north division foe East Mississippi.

Sept. 10, the Wildcats will head north for a game with Itawamba and then return home on Sept. 17 for their first south division game against Hinds. The next week (Sept.

Trailing 38-35 at intermission the PRC girls made a run at the homestanding Lady Bulldogs only to falter in the last few minutes. The game was tied at 45 with 11:57 remaining when the Billy Holmes led girls went up 47-46. That was PRC's only lead of the night and it was short lived.

Robin Fairley reeled off four straight baskets to put the Perk Girls up 60-47. That was all they needed to register their second South Division win of the year over the PRC girls.

Hattiesburg's Christine Fairley had a good night, as she banged in 24 points. Darlene Davis scored 11, Carmen Reed 11 and Sharon Williams 10. The loss dropped the Lady Wildcat Record to 11-7.

Bulldogs nip Wildcats

Pearl River College's Wildcats scared the dickens out of the mighty Gulf Coast Bulldogs in Perkinston last week before losing 60-58.

Trailing by 15 (53-38) with just 3:40 to go in the grudge match the Wildcats fought back and came within a last second basket of taking over the co-leaders of the South Division and one of the nation's top twenty teams.

Ben Henry's base line shot with two seconds left hit the rim and bounced off to save the Bulldog victory. Still, the Wildcats efforts were amazing. Hustle and a stingy man to man defense was the key to the Cats' late rally. During the last three minutes Ben Henry picked up all five of his points; Randy Smith got four and playmaker Glen Boyd chucked in six as the Cats closed the gap to one (59-58) with 10 seconds left. The Wildcats intentionally fouled John McArthur with nine seconds remaining. The Gulf Coast sharp shooter made the front end of the one and one but missed the second to set up Henry's heroic efforts.

"Unbelievable performance," said Billy Holmes, the Cats' head coach. "We played our hearts out," said assistant Ned Eades.

Holmes and Eades were very happy about the way their Cats did not quit. Trailing 28-16 at the half before a very rowdy Gulf Coast Student body, the Wildcats and the bus load of PRC students who made the trip remained patient.

"The performance of these kids was really something," Holmes said. "Boy did they work together." Holmes said his bench has really been great for the team.

Andy Barrett, Ben Henry, Steve Nunn really did a terrific job," Holmes said, "and Boyd may have given his best leadership job ever at guard." Holmes also said he could not believe how Randy Smith could continue to play so well

Basketball church league organizing

The Bay-Waveland Church Basketball League held its organizing meeting Thursday for the coming season at the Main Street United Methodist Church.

Cal Smith was elected commissioner for the league which will play its games on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the St. Augustine Seminary gymnasium starting Feb. 17 for five weeks.

Anyone who would like to referee (paid) should contact Cal Smith.

The River signs Louisiana QB

Pearl River College has signed an outstanding out-of-state quarterback.

J.C. Arban, PRC's head coach, announced that quarterback Darren Brock of Litcher, La. has signed a scholarship to play for the Wildcats the next two years.

Brock, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Brock, is a six foot, 175 pound signal caller, who made all-district in Louisiana in 1981. A competitor in the state, Brock is a very strong arm with a quick release and a lot of quickness.

"I like what I saw in Darren," Arban said. "He's a good athlete and a good student. I'm very happy he has decided to be a part of our team."

Last year the Wildcats put together a 6-4 ledger after winning the South Division and being runner-up in the state the year before. Spring training is going on now with a record 58 players dressed out.

"We have 38 sophomores returning, plus a half-dozen senior college transfers," Arban said. "It looks like we have size and quickness in the line and backfield."

Arban said Brock would have a good chance at seeing action as a freshman. "We do not have an experienced sophomore quarterback. That position will be open for the taking when the season begins in mid-October," Arban said.

Brock is also a star pitcher-short stop in baseball. Arban said he would be permitted to try out for the Wildcat Baseball team as soon as spring training is over next year.

Darren played for Coach David Richard at Litcher High.

Pearl River College has won 14 overall state championships, more than any other Mississippi junior college, and has won 70.6 percent of all games every played.

Carnival atmosphere prevails in library

By JOE PILET
Coordinator, Friends of the Library

The spirit of Mardi Gras prevails throughout the City-County Public Library where an array of mementos of Carnival past decorate every available section.

This contribution of time, talent and materials was made by Ed Scanlan Jr., who is a well-known designer of carnival costumes, floats, and elaborate head pieces.

In the display case may be seen a fanciful array of Mardi Gras favors, silver goblets, masks, trinkets and trivia, and an elaborate head piece sparkling with jewels against gold and black dramatic designs.

The children's library bulletin board sports a lively green alligator waving a carnival flag, while carnival colors bedeck the ceilings.

All available peg-board space in the Crawford Memorial Room is filled with excellent sketches made by artist Scanlan of floats that proudly paraded during Carnival Seasons of the past decade.

A study of these colorful sketches gives a fuller appreciation of the artistry and imagination used in creating these spectacles.

The Carnival theme will remain in the library throughout the month of February.

LIVING LONGER

Around the world, from the cradle to the grave, many of us are taught to take a pill for our pains. It is wonderful when the pain subsides, we even think we are well. But killing the pain is something far different than finding the CAUSE and correcting it, allowing for the real restoration of repair and health. You see, many of us give little thought to the matter because, when the pain is gone, we assume that all is well until of course the drugs wear off and the pain returns, then we repeat the procedure again. One can deaden any pain, but without finding the real cause and correcting it, the disease goes on destroying tissue and returning the sensation of pain.

If you break a bone, it doesn't take the skilled hands of a surgeon long to set, but it usually takes your body six to eight weeks to mend and heal it together again. In the future, if you are sick or in pain, put forth the effort to find out why, and have the cause corrected. You'll stay healthier and live longer.

REAL VIEWS ON REAL ESTATE

INSTALLMENT SALE

QUESTION: I have owned a parcel of land for a number of years which is now worth considerably more than I paid for it. I would like to sell it but do not like the idea of having to pay so much federal income tax. Is there anything I can do to decrease my liability? A. A. Biloxi

ANSWER: Dear A. A. If you are going to sell your land, here is some advice that might reduce the tax bite on any profit you make.

A common way to postpone the payment of capital-gains taxes on profits made from the sale of real estate is to use the installment sales method. A sale of real estate automatically qualifies under the installment sales method if payments of the gross sales price are spread over two or more years. Gross sales price includes cash received, mortgages of the seller that are assumed or taken by the buyer, and any other property or property rights given to the seller.

This method permits the seller to defer paying capital-gains taxes on a pro rata basis until installments are actually received. For instance, if you receive payments in December and January you could spread your taxes over a two-year period, while receiving the full amount of the sale in two or three days. This could keep you in a lower tax bracket and reduce your overall taxes.

As each installment payment is made, a portion of that payment is treated as interest, a portion is treated as a capital gain, and a portion is not subject to any kind of tax. In addition, an installment sale can be structured to have most of the purchase price due in retirement years, when your income and tax brackets are lower. Also, by receiving the income during your retirement years, you will be receiving the cash at a time when you might need it to supplement social security, a pension or other sources of retirement income.

Discuss the installment sale provision with your accountant or tax adviser before selling your real estate. You may find that by using it, the tax bite normally resulting from a sale can be softened.

RESALE VALUE

QUESTION: We are considering building a swimming pool and wonder if, given the cost of the pool, the value of our house will increase as much. A. J. Jackson

ANSWER: Dear A. J. Many people who own their homes today recognize the investment value of their property. They realize that the house is probably worth considerably more than they originally paid and expect this trend to continue.

In fact, most of us have come to believe that buying a house is the best investment we can make. Many also feel that making improvements to the home will pay off handsomely if and when the house is sold. This belief is valid up to a point.

Prudent investments in home improvement can be and normally are profitable, in that the value added to the house as a result of the improvement is greater than the cost of the improvement. However, it is possible to "over-improve" a property, which means that the cost of the improvements will not be recaptured when the property is resold.

A major constraint to the amount and type of appropriate improvement is the character of surrounding homes. As you know, location is such an important factor in determining not only where people want to live but also the type improvements you normally expect to find in homes located in a certain area.

Owning the only house in the neighborhood with a swimming pool does not mean that a buyer will automatically pay much more for your house than he or she would pay for the surrounding homes.

In fact, the $10,000 you might spend on installing the pool might add little, if any, value to the property.

In addition, the pool may even become a liability when you go to sell your house by narrowing the market for your home. People with small children or those with no interest in a pool will likely eliminate your home from their list of possible houses before you even have a chance to show them the house.

Instead, time and money will probably be better spent on improving the appearance, energy efficiency and modernization of your home. Attic insulation, storm windows and doors and ceiling fans are examples of improvements which normally add to the value of your home.

Likewise, the modernization of your kitchen may also increase value. Remember, it pays to evaluate resale value before adding costly improvement.

For answers to your questions, write Dr. Dennis Tosh, P. O. Box 285, University, MS 38677.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 139 celebrated its 35th anniversary Saturday with a Silver Tea at the Legion Home on Green Meadow Road.

The American Legion Auxiliary was chartered by the department of Mississippi on Jan. 29, 1948.

Sara McCorkle was the department president at the time. The first unit president was Mrs. Laurent Dickson and the first secretary was Mrs. Warren Carver.

Sixty-five members signed the charter.

All past presidents and charter members were honored at the tea. Mrs. McCorkle's health would not allow her to attend but she sent her best wishes.

Mrs. Jeanette Ghatti, department president, brought good wishes from all department officers.

Mrs. Evelyn Burns, unit president, with a gift of thanks for the help the unit gave her at the mid-winter conference.

In addition to Mrs. Ghatti other department officers attending included Mrs. Marius Ladner, first vice-president, and Mrs. Lola Sumrall, past department president.

Guests from Waveland Unit 77, Gulfport Unit No. 119, Biloxi Unit No. 33, and Pascagoula Unit No. 160 also attended.

The table was centered with a 32 x 32 inch cake featuring a large auxiliary emblem in the center and three large sugar magnolias adorning the four corners.

Pinch was served from a large punchbowl on one end of the table and coffee and tea were served from an elaborate silver service on the other end.

Silver candelabra and silver serving trays of finger sandwiches also adorned the table.

The color scheme was blue and yellow carrying out the colors of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The guest book was on a round table covered with white cloth and adorned with a single yellow carnation in a silver bud vase.

The Junior Auxiliary members helped the Auxiliary tea committee serve their guests. The guest book was attended by junior members Amy Oliver and Susan Moran, Miss Poppy for 1982-83.

Congressman tells students he grew up with nuclear waste

Congressman Trent Lott recently visited Coast Episcopal High School in Pass Christian.

He presented student body president Doug Underwood an American flag, and noted the flag had been flown over the White House in Washington, D.C. on January 12, 1983 in the name of Coast Episcopal High School.

The students in return presented Lott with one of their high school emblemized shirts.

During the meeting Lott explained to the students how congressmen operate politically and in what capacity they can help the people in their district.

He discussed what their job entails while at the Capitol and the voting procedures and rules. Also discussed were current bills being worked on and what citizens can do to help congressmen.

During a question and answer period some of the topics covered were minimum and sub-minimum wage cuts for young people.

Lott agreed with students that with our high unemployment rate it would be counterproductive to hire young people for less money over adults that were out of jobs.

Nuclear power and waste on the Gulf Coast was also discussed and Lott said a great number of jobs have been created for the Coast area.

He said that he grew up surrounded by nuclear waste from submarines being overhauled in Pascagoula. He mentioned that factors to consider when locating a nuclear plant are population and geography.

Some students living near the test site were concerned about the testing and Lott reported that there will be six missiles tested this year.

He said that schedules of these NSTL firings will be posted in the Coast High School office for any interested individuals.

Lott expressed his interest in college assistance and said that people should be aware that if you truly need financial assistance it will be available.

He explained that part of a congressman's job is to help students attend military academies and for anyone interested in attending military schools to contact him and he would send them the necessary forms and information.

Lott said that he had recently been involved in a research program of high schools along the Gulf Coast and that Coast Episcopal High School exhibited the highest SAT scores of any high school in this area.

Loretta Lynn to chair National Wildlife Week

Loretta Lynn, First Lady of country music, has been named chairperson for the 1983 observance of National Wildlife Week, entitled, "This Is Your Land: Public Lands sincere, honest country person who appreciates the land and its valuable resources. She will be a valued spokeswoman for us because of her personal commitment to preserving ing that our public lands are used wisely and taken care of for citizens to use and enjoy.

Nearly half a million educational kits about Wildlife Week are being distributed by the National Wildlife Federation to schools and other conservation centers throughout the country to promote understanding and discussion of this country's public lands.

"These lands are some of the world's most cherished areas: parks, forests, refuges and wilderness," Ms. Lynn said. "They range from wilderness in New Mexico and Alaska to fishing streams in the Pacific Northwest and barrier islands along the Atlantic Coast. They are rich in natural resources, and home for an undetermined variety of wildlife and plants."

"It's time for all Americans to understand their role in taking care of this land—and using it wisely, to maintain it not just for this generation, but for generations to come."

Loretta Lynn, 1983 Wildlife Week Chairperson.

Belong to All of Us." More than 15 million school children, teachers and conservationists will observe the 48th annual Wildlife Week, sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation, from March 20 to 28.

They will be actively involved in understanding the responsibilities we all have as owners of America's 740 million acres of public lands.

Loretta Lynn is an outdoor enthusiast and practicing conservationist. She said, "The Federation's cause—and mine—is to remind the people of their responsibility to see to it that our public lands are used wisely. This is critically important as our country's demand for limited resources increases."

Ms. Lynn, the first country music singer to be named Wildlife Week Chairperson, succeeds actor and environmentalist Robert Redford who headed last year's Wildlife Week.

Ms. Lynn has made radio and television public service announcements that will be aired all year, singing Woody Guthrie's popular song, "This Land Is Your Land," and talking about the importance of public lands.

She has donated her time to the national Wildlife Federation for her work as chairperson.

Federation President C. Clifton Young said of Ms. Lynn's selection as chairperson, "Loretta Lynn is a our natural resources, and her credibility with her millions of fans."

Honored as the first woman to receive the prestigious Country Music Association's "Entertainment of the Year" award, Loretta Lynn has recorded more than 30 albums in her 20-year career.

She is also the author of the best-selling autobiography, "Coal Miner's Daughter," about her rise to stardom from a poverty-stricken childhood in the coal mining town of Butcher, Hollow in eastern Kentucky.

This book was also made into a movie which won critical acclaim.

"Much of this great land in America was set aside for you—years ago—to give you room to stretch, and to give wild animals room to live and grow," Ms. Lynn said. "Today, your land is also helping the country with jobs and precious resources."

"But as more needs are found for your land, it's more important that your voice is heard—for you, for your children and mine."

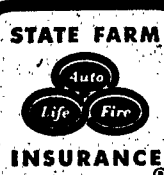

National Wildlife Week was first proclaimed in 1935 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to rally public support for the restoration of a healthy and abundant wildlife population, and is now the highlight of each of the National Wildlife Federation's year-long conservation education campaigns.

This year's public lands theme was chosen to remind the public of its stake in ensur-
